Hardwick gets 'daffy'

Resident plants over 10,000 roadside daffodils

By Paula Ouimette
Staff Writer

HARDWICK — With the arrival of spring, many residents of Hardwick noticed daffodils cropping up all over town, seemingly overnight. Bright splashes of green and yellow enhanced the town's already bucolic landscape.

This work has been the effort of Hardwick resident, Fred Debros, who to date has planted the flowers in an effort to beautify the roadways of his town. The 77-year-old retiree digs the bulbs from his own garden and has replanted them along Rte. 32A, Upper Church Street and at the World War I Memorial in Gilbertville. "We have planted about 10,000 daffodils and as many snowdrops with elbow grease and a crowbar, just to make springs prettier. The bulbs are all dug up from my own garden, so except for the calories, it was a free and voluntary endeavor," he said.

Please see DAFFODILS, page 5

This sign marks the location of newly planted daffodil plants in Gilbertville. After the leaves turn yellow, they can be cut back, and the bulb will be ready to bloom next spring.

Budgets, water filtration plant to be considered

By Eileen Kennedy
Staff writer

WARE — On Monday, May 24, there will be a Special Town Meeting at 6:30 p.m., with the Annual Town Meeting to be opened at 7 p.m., in the Ware Junior Senior High School auditorium.

On April 24, the STM was originally to be held but a quorum wasn't present so it was rescheduled.

The main topic at the STM will be the proposed water filtration plant and how to pay for it.

The town's water supply is high in manganese and iron, which colors the water brown and black when it interacts with the chlorine in the system. The filtration plant would trap the majority of the particles in large filters, helping to provide clearer water. Tests have shown that the water is drinkable according to the state's water standards, officials have said, and the system's test results are on the Department of Public Work's webpages on the town's website. The new plant would be located at the Barnes Street Pumping Station property.

Over a month ago, before the original STM date, Select Board members voted 5-0 to recommend voters appropriate $13.3 million for the new water filtration plant, they were divided on other articles regarding how to pay for the plant.

They also voted 3-2 on recommending articles about the plant including creating a stabilization fund to pay for the project, accepting state law to allow the stabilization fund and dedicated money, and an article that would dedicate 100% of revenue raised from the town's local tax on retail marijuana to the filtration plant stabilization fund.

Morrin and newly-elected SelectBoard member Caitlin McCarthy voted against recommending those three articles.

Morrin has said in the past that water users should pay for the filtration plant and McCarthy said that night she wasn't sure 100% of the marijuana taxes should go toward paying for the new plant.

The town will have to borrow the $13.3 million, but how those debt payments will be paid remains to be seen. It could be funded entirely by increases in water rates or by higher rates and other methods such as using retail marijuana taxes or other general funds.

Juvenile involved in assault released, to wear GPS

By Paula Ouimette
Staff Writer

WARE — A dangerousness hearing was held last Thursday for a 15-year-old juvenile arrested in a violent assault on 26-year-old Shiloh Skerritt, which resulted in significant injury to his shoulder. The attack occurred on the afternoon of May 8 in Grenville Park.

The judge at Hadley Juvenile Court released the juvenile to his family, with conditions he wear a GPS monitoring device, and follow curfew except for medical appointments, school and meetings with his attorney. The juvenile is not allowed to abuse anyone, have any contact with the victim, the victim's family, or witnesses. He must also attend school daily and cannot visit Grenville Park. Contact with the 11-year-old involved in the assault is also prohibited, as is the use of drugs and weapons.

Additional charges against the involved juveniles have been filed for an assault that occurred the day prior to the Saturday assault, which resulted in Skerritt's injury. Police Chief Shawn Crevier said that the Friday event is still under investigation and more juveniles will be charged for their involvement. Crevier said they have also obtained video footage of the assault.

The basketball hoops at Grenville Park have been removed for a 30-day period and the town is in the process of installing security cameras.

The 15-year-old will be returning to court on June 16 for a pre-trial hearing.

Hardwick Community Fair gets 'green light'

By Paula Ouimette
Staff Writer

HARDWICK — At their meeting Tuesday, May 18, the Board of Selectmen heard from Hardwick Community Fair President Fay Butler, who said fair officials received the "green light" from the Board of Health to hold the annual fair.

Butler said they will plan it as they have in years past, but will be prepared to adjust accordingly if a change in COVID-19 guidelines arises. Butler said they would like to have a beer and wine garden again and he will start the process for that. SelectBoard Chair Kelly Kemp said she hopes they can all enjoy the fair this year.

Memorial Day

Don Martel said in lieu of a Memorial Day parade, they will visit each site in town and lay wreaths. Martel said Town Clerk Ryan J. Witkos will read the names and Taps will be played. They will begin in Wheelwright at 9:30 a.m., then continue to Hardwick, followed by Gilbertville.

Kemp apologized or a miscommunication that occurred with a Facebook post about Memorial Day events. Martel said the American Legion in town is still very much active, they just sold their building due to the pandemic. He said they are currently looking for a new site to meet. He said many of their members are elderly and a parade is too much for them.

Gibbs Crossing trailhead sees improvement

By Paula Ouimette
Staff Writer

WARE — A branch of the Mass Central Rail Trail, known as the Ware River Valley Rail Trail, covers almost two miles from Robbins Road to Gibbs Crossing between Walmart and Lowes. Thanks to a grant and donation, a .35 mile stretch from Gibbs Crossing to Westbrook Avenue, will see a major overhaul this summer. Taylor

Davis Landscape Co. will complete the improvements by Aug. 1.

The town of Ware received a $38,500 MassTrails Grant from the Department of Conservation and Recreation to improve the drainage, slope and surface materials of the trail. "Initially the grant was submitted to stone dust the entire section from Gibbs Crossing to Robbins Road, but

Committee signs letter against violence

By Eileen Kennedy

WARE — At its May 12 meeting, the School Committee unanimously voted to add their voices to a letter from community leaders decrying an attack on a autistic man in Grenville Park on May 8. School Superintendent Dr. Marlene DiLeo also added her name to the letter.

The attack was allegedly carried out by two juvenile boys, one 15 and the other 11. The 15-year-old has been charged in the attack and the Ware police filed a 51A report with the state Department of Families and Children regarding the two boys.

School Committee Chairman Christopher Desjardins said Town Manager Stuart Beckley had contacted him, asking if the School Committee wanted to

High school boiler needs fixing or replacing

By Eileen Kennedy
Staff writer

WARE – At its May 12 meeting, the School Committee asked that Building and Grounds Director William Deschamps attend its next meeting to discuss a leaking boiler at Ware Junior Senior High School.

School Superintendent Dr. Marlene DiLeo said a mechanical engineer had come to look at it and said it would cost $29,425 to determine what the problem is and how to fix it. "We have to determine the next steps for either repair or replacement," she said.

By state law, every school must have two boilers, and at WJSHS, the process has begun to hook up the backup boiler to be the primary boiler for now, she said.

School Committee member Brian Winslow asked if the Massachusetts School Building Authority could be petitioned to fund the boiler's replacement if that was necessary. DiLeo said the MSBA's funding of two other recent projects, the boilers at the elementary school and the windows and doors at the middle school, she wasn't sure if a grant would be forthcoming for this boiler. If the project was funded by the MSBA, it would cover 78% of the cost, with the town being responsible for the rest.

Building inspector fees

Kemp said she talked to the building inspector and he said their fee schedule is "antiquated." He said he was willing to look at updating the fee schedule if the board approved. The current fee schedule was done in 2016. The board agreed the fee schedule should be updated.

HCA drafts

The board received revised Host Community Agreements from town counsel for Hardwick Mill Greenery and Budding Botanicals LLC. Kemp said town counsel felt removing the impact fee and just adding another payment, or benefit payment, in the same amount, would still be considered an impact fee in the court. Town counsel suggested in the drafts for each business to propose an impact fee and a benefit fee.

Kemp said Adroit Manufacturing owner, Ralph Rogers came to the board's last meeting with his concerns about impact fees versus benefit payments, as well as the $5,000 legal deposit and indemnification language. Rogers said he agreed to pay the legal deposit and have it taken off of his first impact fee. Rogers said in speaking with town counsel, the language in the HCA

Deschamps, in putting together a list of the district's physical plant needs had determined replacing the boiler was likely to cost $1 million, DiLeo said.

School Committee Chairman Christopher Desjardins asked that Deschamps tell the committee what repairs have been made in the past and what the prospects are going forward.

Waiving fees

The School Committee approved a motion by member Brian Winslow to waive $412.50 in COVID-19 cleaning fees related to the upcoming Special Town Meeting and Annual Town Meeting scheduled for Monday, May 24, in the WJSHS gymnasium.

Winslow said he thought it would be a gesture on the part of the committee as the district's budget will be decided during the ATM. The committee usually waives their use fee for the town, but with COVID-19 safety procedures, it will now absorb the cleaning costs as well.

Winslow and Desjardins said they attended a recent Finance Committee meeting, where they learned that its members are working to reduce the number of town meetings held every year and have the town become more efficient.

regarding indemnification is there because marijuana is still illegal under federal laws. Rogers said he wants the language about marijuana being illegal according to federal regulations included.

Kemp said they will talk with town counsel tomorrow to make amendments to Rogers' HCA in order for the board to review it and vote at their next meeting.

EMS update

Quink said she received the proposal from the town of Barre for emergency medical services. They proposed an up-front fee of $25,000 to cover Wheelwright and the parts of Hardwick that border Barre. Quink said the proposal mentions additional costs but does not say an amount.

Quink said she is concerned about Ware's ability to cover Hardwick, especially with overnight calls. Police Chief James Ayotte said they should continue talking with West Brookfield Rescue Squad and look at all options.

"The first and foremost concern is the residents of Hardwick," Quink said. She also wants the town to get what they are paying for, she said. Quink proposed they ask Barre to come to their meeting and just discuss this. Quink said she will be approaching Ware with Ayotte or Lt. Kevin Landine, since they are the first responders for Hardwick. Kemp said she would arrange a meeting with Barre.

Water Resource Committee gives update

By Eileen Kennedy
Staff writer

WARE – Water Resources Committee Chairman Terrance Smith gave SelectBoard members an update Tuesday on the committee's work so far.

They have had two meetings so far, one to organize the members and a second involving a trip to the Water Pumping Station on Barnes Street and the Wastewater Treatment Plant on Robbins Road.

Smith said the committee is not working on whether the town needs a Water Filtration Plant, which will come up for a vote on Monday, May 24, at Special Town Meeting, but long-term goals such as what other work has to be done to the water and wastewater systems.

He said the committee members got a tour of the pumping station and the town's cistern located at the same location. He said the cistern water was very clear and despite being 22 feet deep, it was so clear it looked like five feet.

He said the siting of the Water Filtration Plant, should it be approved, would be where people park for Kubinski Field, which is a baseball field adjacent to the pump station. He said since it would involve the town's water system, the field should probably be closed. Smith said the land was set aside for water system purposes.

Smith said if the plant goes forward, additional work should be considered with it, such as rehabilitating the two water storage tanks, which is likely to cost between $1.5 and $2 million. They have not had any work on them since 1998, he said.

The USDA, which would be the agency providing a grant if all goes well, could consider adding that work to the plant, he said.

Smith said the water is clean, as shown by the recent report on the town's water, to which St. George-Sorel agreed. While iron and manganese have discolored the water, and in turn residents' clothing while being washed, the water is safe to drink, he said.

The re-introduction of a DPW flushing plan for the town's water pipes twice a year, has made a big improvement in the color of the water, he said.

St. George-Sorel said even if the filtration plant is built, it will still be necessary to use chlorine in the water.

Smith also pointed out that the wastewater treatment plant on Robbins Road will need to be rebuilt or replaced in the coming years as the Department of Environmental Protection changes standards. Ware's plant was built in 1961, and then added to in the 1980s, and its replacement costs would be between $50 and $60 million.

Ware marketing

SelectBoard Vice Chairman John Morrin proposed the town stop using the slogan, "Ware, somewhere worth seeing." He called it a placeholder and suggested the town return to using "Ware, the town that can't be licked."

"We survived that and now with Main Street it will never be more relevant," said SelectBoard Chairman Keith Kruckas.

SelectBoard members agreed the Ware marketing could include more use of other verbs, such as hiking and shopping to better describe the town.

Appointments

Reappointed to terms that will expire on June 30, 2024 included:

Town counsel also recommended that voters approve an additional $7.3 million to the $6 million approved by Town Meeting voters several years ago for the project, according to Town Manager Stuart Beckley. Doing so would mean the previous vote of $6 million would not have to be rescinded.

Unrelated articles

The SelectBoard has also recommended two other STM articles. One is to approve the spending of $72,000 to fix drainage issues and make ball field repairs at Grenville Park. A grant for $50,000 was received from the state and the town will spend about $22,000 on the project.

The second article is to release an easement the town has at 127 Church St., which was originally from Sept. 7, 1938. It was taken to do some water system work that was never done, and will now revert to the homeowner.

Annual Town Meeting

There are 24 articles on the Annual Town Meeting warrant that range from annual financial housekeeping issues to restarting the Charter Commission so it can add amendments in and develop a detailed recall procedure for selectmen to purchasing a fire engine.

Two of the articles were dismissed during Tuesday's SelectBoard meeting: the adoption of a new vacant/blighted property law that isn't ready to be considered yet, and one to buy the Department of Public Works a utility vehicle for cemetery work as the cost has been added to the DPW's annual budget.

There is a consent agenda, which means if everyone agrees they can be voted on together, including articles one through eight. They cover items such as allowing the treasure/tax collector and SelectBoard members to authorize borrowing and to allow the town to accept grants.

Also on the warrant is the town's fiscal 2022 budget, which is $31,640,602, a 5% increase from fiscal 2021's budget, which was $30,130,214. It includes the School Department's budget $13.2 million, school transportation at $1.8 million as well as Pathfinder Regional Schools' assessment of $1.1 million.

There are also articles to raise the number of marijuana retail businesses to 50% of the number of liquor stores, which would be more than the current 20% limit, and to accept a gift of a small piece of land on West Main Street. SelectBoard members agreed that the owners should pay for an assessment on the land to be sure it isn't contaminated. The town would resell the parcel, according to Town Manager Stuart Beckley.

There is also a warrant article to buy a payloader for the DPW for $208,000, which would also include selling an older one for about $25,000.

There is also an article for a $625,000 fire engine, which is much needed by the Fire Department, Beckley said. Fire Chief Christopher Gagnon has prepared information for voters on the need for the new engine, Beckley said.

There is also an article to design and install a section of water main and other associated works on Upper North Street to connect it with Greenwich Road.

The cost is unknown at this time, but it would allow work at one end of Greenwich Road's water lines to proceed without affecting the whole road. DPW Director Gilbert St. George-Sorel said four different water mains had broken on Greenwich Road lately, making it necessary to shut down all customers on the road while repairs were made.

Charter Commission article

The only article that saw a contentious discussion Tuesday was a citizens' petition to recreate the Charter Commission, which was submitted by resident Terrance Smith and signed by at least 10 other voters.

Smith said he drafted the article so the Charter Commission could be revived to work for the next year on inserting all charter amendments into the body of the Town Charter so it is part of the document. The article also seeks to have the committee draft a simple, clearly-written piece to be added to the charter's Article 3. It would outline how to recall SelectBoard members if they do not hold themselves to the same code of conduct and ethics to which other town employees are held, according to the petition.

SelectBoard Chairman Keith Kruckas said he didn't think the article was legal, and there are already laws in place to recall elected town officials. Kruckas said he believed it was aimed at him although Smith said it was not drafted to recall present SelectBoard members.

Smith did say he's been watching meetings for the last three to four years, and hasn't liked what he's seen. "I've been embarrassed for our town," he said about the behavior of some selectmen at town meetings including at a recent Special Town Meeting in March.

SelectBoard member John Morrin deemed the petition "a complete waste of time," and said it would not pass the Attorney General's review of a new law even if it was passed. The AG's officer reviews all new town regulations passed at STMs and ATMs before they can be implemented.

Morrin also said Smith had not approached him or Kruckas to sign the petition despite saying he would ask all SelectBoard members to sign it. Smith said once he got enough signatures he turned it in to the town clerk's office.

SelectBoard member Nancy Talbot said if the Charter Commission was recreated, the members would have to be elected and they would have to follow the same rules as candidates for other town positions. They would also be given two years to do their work before reporting back to voters. Talbot was on the original Charter Commission in 2007, and she is also the town clerk.

HISTORY MATTERS

History Matters is a biweekly feature courtesy of The Grateful American Book Prize, which is given to children's books that emphasize the importance of American history.

May 16 to May 31

By John Grimaldi and David Bruce Smith

The Lincoln-Douglas debates pushed the possibility of a Lincoln presidency into inevitability. Positioned against Senator Stephen Douglas of Illinois in sequence of debates during re-election year, Douglas insisted the legality of slavery should be determined by the states and territories. Lincoln argued for its abolition.

Douglas kept his seat and Lincoln lost the argument, but his rhetoric raised his profile, and that of the unshaped Republican party.

Two years later, on May 18, 1860, Lincoln was the party's nominee for the presidential election. He faced off with Douglas; Southern Democrat John C. Breckinridge; and Constitutional Union candidate John Bell. Lincoln won 40% of the vote and became the first Republican President of the United States.

It was a victory that activated the secession of southern states, the creation of the Confederacy, and the Civil War.

The Grateful American Book Prize recommends "Lincoln and Douglas: The Debates that Defined America" by Allen C. Guelzo.

Spirit of St. Louis

At 7:52 in the morning of May 20, 1927, Charles Lindbergh, lifted off in his monoplane, "The Spirit of St. Louis", from Roosevelt Airfield in Long Island, New York in a win-it or die-trying 3,610-mile transatlantic bet. At first, getting airborne was difficult, he had a heavy fuel load, but eventually, he did.

Thirty-three and a half hours later, Lindbergh landed at Le Bourget Airfield, Paris; more than 100,000 people; droves of reporters, and correspondents, awaited the arrival of the first pilot, ever, to make a nonstop U.S. to Europe crossing. The news generated headlines around the world, about "Lucky Lindy" and "The Lone Eagle." In addition to the acclaim, Lindbergh earned a cash award for his feat, the equivalent of more than $500,000 in today's currency.

The Grateful American Book Prize recommends "Lindbergh" by A. Scott Berg.

Brooklyn Bridge

Brooklyn was originally a separate city, bifurcated from New York City by the East River. Then, everything changed on May 24, 1883, when the Brooklyn Bridge opened; 250,000 people sauntered across it within 24 hours. It had taken 14 years for John A. Roebling, a German born industrial engineer, to construct what was then the world's largest and longest suspension structure.

According to History.com, "Roebling is credited with a major breakthrough in suspension-bridge technology: a web truss added to either side of the bridge roadway that greatly stabilized the structure." Until then, bridges of that type were notorious for their inability to deal with heavy winds and loads.

The Department of Transportation says today, 138 years later, more than 100,000 cars, 4,000 cyclists, and 10,000 pedestrians, cross daily.

The Grateful American Book Prize recommends David McCullough's "The Great Bridge: The Epic Story of the Building of the Brooklyn Bridge."

A dahlia fetish

While I always devote a portion of the vegetable garden to cut flower plots for the girls and I, last summer in particular we really got into picking big, beautiful bouquets for the house. One flower that did particularly well for us was the dahlia. I had four varieties total in varying sizes and color, and boy did these add a lot to the vase. I enjoyed harvesting them so much that I invested in a sampler pack from Old House Gardens mail order company, as well as another couple varieties from local growers. I can't wait to be surprised by what is in my sample pack.

Today was the designated day to plant them. I was a little nervous because the soil temperatures have only begun to warm up, but I had the time so I did it and will pray for the best. Sometimes you just have to do what you have to do! Read on to learn about this unique flower.

Dahlias are not hardy in our area. For that reason we wait until the danger of frost has passed to plant them. They can be started from seeds but most are grown from tubers of a named variety that was purchased from a nursery or mail order company. According to one source, there are some 50,000 named dahlia varieties! Flowers can vary in size from mignon singles that are a mere 2 inches across to AA size which grow over 10 inches wide.

Plant heights vary as well, ranging from six inches to 20 feet tall! Six different size flowers and 14 shapes are possible with colors that appear in nearly every shade except for true blue. Small varieties make especially good bedding plants, mixing well with other annual and perennial garden flowers. Large flowered types are suitable "specimen" plants that stand well on their own in nearly any gardening situation. All are great and long-lasting cut flowers.

Dahlias have the reputation of being "high maintenance," probably because they need to be staked and pinched. They are also prone to insect and disease problems. None of this should dissuade you from growing them, however. Plant dahlias in full sun in fertile soil amended sparingly with compost and organic fertilizers. Most tubers are planted about three inches deep and one to three feet away from one another, depending on plant size. Providing enough air circulation between plants will help keep diseases at bay.

Most gardeners install a stake at planting time and attach the dahlia to it as it grows, beginning when it is a foot tall. Subsequent ties are made every 18 inches or so depending on variety. Without the use of stakes, large flowers will likely topple in the wind and rain, sometimes taking a good portion of the plant with it.

Pinching dahlias is another good practice. When the plant has three sets of leaves gently remove its growth tip. This will encourage more branching and inevitably more flowers. Once blooming starts, it is important to cut away spent blooms on a regular basis; tubers will grow stronger because of it. Dahlias thrive on sufficient moisture, especially since they are shallow rooted. Furnish them with one inch per week during active growth. As the growing season draws to a close, hold back on water and any supplemental fertilization you have been providing. This will give the tubers a chance to harden off before they are removed from the ground.

Dig up dahlia tubers either just prior to or soon after frost hits. Leave a small portion of stem attached to the tubers; it is a great place to adhere a label. Take it from me, it is easy to forget a name over the winter months! Soil should be eased off the tubers with a spray of water before placing in storage. Choose a location to overwinter your tubers that maintain 40 to 50 degrees temps and 90% humidity. These conditions will keep them dormant and healthy until it is time to replant. Many people have good luck using a cold basement or root cellar; small quantities of tubers can be stored in the crisper drawer of the refrigerator. Placing tubers in damp peat moss, saw dust, shredded leaves or even ventilated plastic bags will help to prevent shriveling. Be sure to check on your tubers every couple of weeks throughout the offseason. Should you see shriveling, mist them with clean water and re-dampen the medium in which they were placed. If you see mold, bring down the temperature and humidity level.

Some dahlias like to get a jump-start on the season by pre-starting dahlias indoors. We have done this occasionally at Old Sturbridge Village, and I am always amazed at just how fast the plants grow, and how quickly they outgrow their pots and become leggy. If you attempt it, four weeks prior to the last spring frost would be soon enough.

It's my hope that you will venture into the land of dahlia growing and love it as much as I do!

Roberta McQuaid graduated from the Stockbridge School of Agriculture at the University of Massachusetts. For the last 28 years, she has held the position of staff horticulturalist at Old Sturbridge Village. She enjoys growing food as well as flowers. Have a question for her? LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

There will be consequences to closing Mary Lane

I read about the information about Mary Lane closing from afar, but I grew up in Hardwick.

My mother, God rest her soul, had a heart attack and the nearest hospital was Mary Lane.

Hardwick Ambulance showed up with a basic EMT. I was an advanced EMT at the time and asked about the cardiac monitor of an IV. No one was qualified and I was not licensed in the commonwealth. Fortunately she survived to Ware before being med-flighted to Worcester.

I think $133,000 is too much for Hardwick to pay for Ware to provide services. What are the costs going to be when the nearest emergency room is even farther away? And what are the life chances for an ambulance from another town to respond to someone living on Gaudet Road and getting to a hospital? Will it be an equipped ALS ambulance? Will it get there in time?

The ramifications of Baystate closing Mary Lane are serious.

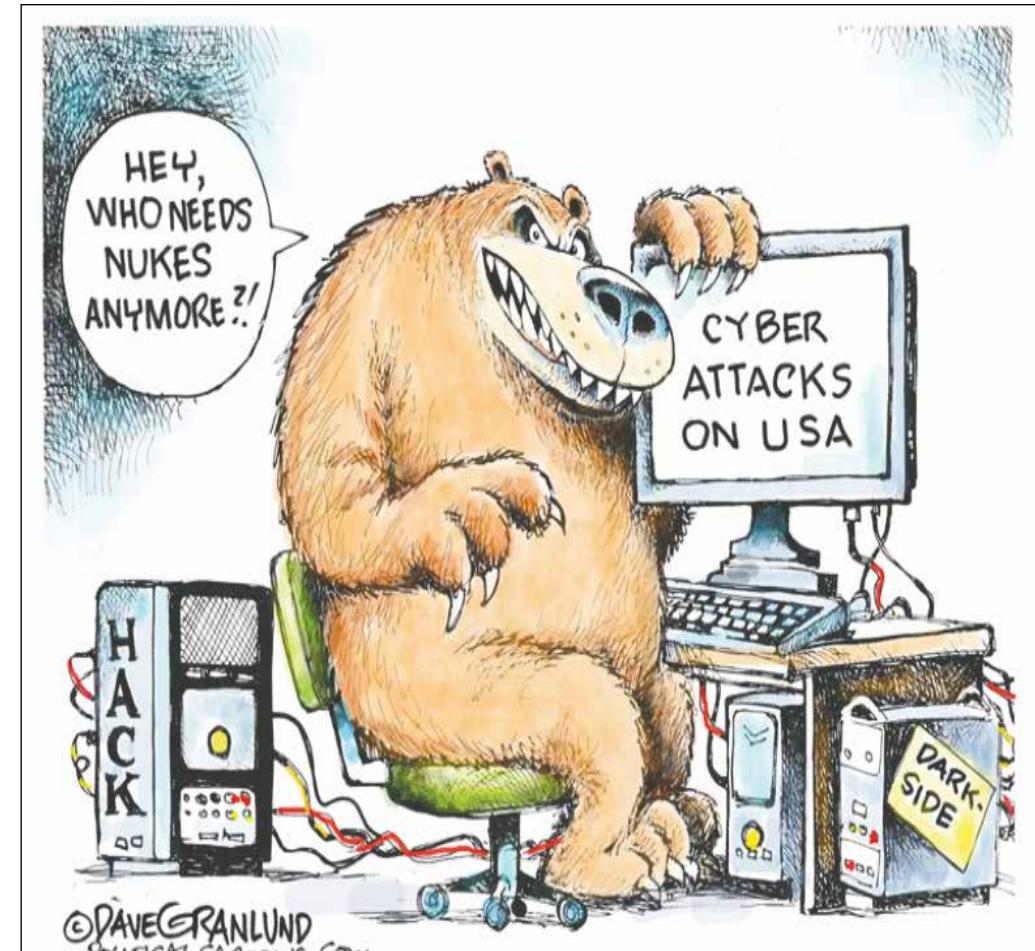

Leonard Campbell, Meredith, New Hampshire

Editor's note: This letter is being re-run to reflect the fact that the Ware School Committee and School Superintendent also signed it.

Violence will not be tolerated

Over this past weekend (May 8), an alarming act of violence and cowardice toward an innocent disabled resident occurred in Greenville Park. Thankfully, the Police Department has identified the responsible parties, and has begun the process of bringing justice to the affected family.

The Parks Commission has banned those involved from the Parks' properties. To restore respect for people and the facilities, the Commission will close the basketball courts for 30 days. The Police Department and Parks Commission will increase patrols and the use of cameras to assure safety. There will be zero tolerance for these wrongful, hurtful acts. This response is a community responsibility. If you see something, say something.

This act is not what Ware is about.

Grenville Park and all areas of the town are to be safe and open to all. Ware is a community where we care and watch out for everyone. We are all neighbors. We need to respect each other, no matter any differences. It is not acceptable in any terms in this town to be fearful, to feel unsafe, to be attacked. We as a town will do better. We have to. Treating citizens poorly - any and all citizens - will not be tolerated.

Be thankful tonight for a Police Department that acted quickly and professionally to address this terrible crime. Be concerned that this act happened. Be thoughtful about how we can together make the town better for all.

The town, through its leaders and staff, will work hard to continue to ensure that Ware is a safe, inclusive and caring community. Be safe.

EQLT to host pollinator plant fact walk

NORTH BROOKFIELD – East Quabbin Land Trust installed a pollinator plant fact walk at Wendemuth Meadow, 25 Bates St., from May through July.

Participants will learn about the pollinator plants in the area as they walk along the beautiful trails at Wendemuth Meadow. Each month, plants in the fact walk will be rotated out to include different species that are blooming in the area. People may test their newfound knowledge with an identification quiz at the end of the fact walk. They made download the trail map at EQLT.org.

ways, but Shiloh, who is autistic, has regressed. "He's changed," Skerritt said. "He is making a lot of ticks, sounds and actions, like hitting his hands together, again. Now it's a lot worse." He said his son had gotten past a lot of those behaviors in the past, but the attack brought them back.

Shiloh's psychologist and other service providers have jumped in and are working to help him in the wake of the attack. "They've been great," he said.

Skerritt said the town's response, from residents to town officials, has impressed him. "I can't even tell you how nice that has been," he said. Town officials, including Town Manager Stuart Beckley, the Parks Department and selectmen, have all shared their sincere sympathies that it happened and want to help, he said.

This week Shiloh has an appointment for a orthopedic surgeon who will assess his broken shoulder blade and what should be done. Skerritt said it is problematic because Shiloh is not verbal about his pain, and it sometimes difficult to figure out there is a problem. Shiloh had shingles, which can be a very painful problem, for three days before Skerritt figured out there was an issue.

In the meantime, Shiloh has kept up his walks in the park, accompanied by his dad, a couple of times a day. Skerritt, a VanPool drive in Framingham, tries to make it back to Ware between his morning and afternoon shifts, but can't always do so.

"It's a little tough sometimes, he's six feet tall and I'm 5'7," he said. "He's got really long legs and he goes like 100 mph. I told him you have to slow down a little."

Skerritt said Shiloh started life without any issues, reading books very early on with plenty of talking until he developed type 1 diabetes, even going into a diabetic coma as a toddler. After the diabetes began, he said, Shiloh began losing a number of skills.

"He's so smart," Skerritt said. "If people could spend even an hour with him they would understand. They would see that he is polite and kind." Shiloh makes dinner for them every day, and won't even let Skerritt do the dishes, he said.

Town Manager Stuart Beckley and the Parks Department are considering holding a Shiloh's Walk in Grenville Park, Skerritt said, which he thinks would be a fitting tribute to his son.

Debros and his wife, Jane, moved to their 20-plus acre farm on Upper Church Street in 1976, using it as a weekend getaway from his job as an anesthesiologist at Mass General Hospital in Boston. The couple eventually made it their permanent home, raising animals and adding to the gardens that surround the property. Descendants of the farm's past residents still stop by to visit during the Hardwick Community Fair, reminiscing on childhood days spent playing hide and seek and exploring the outdoors.

What began decades ago with a single pot of daffodils, has now turned into a town-wide project to add color and beauty, while inspiring community involvement. The daffodils, which bloom in the spring, are now going dormant, but will return year after year to usher in the warmth and sunshine. Debros divides and replants the bulbs between April and May, when the ground is soft and moist. Using a crowbar, Debros drives a hole into the ground, creating a deep, wide area to plant the bulb. Debros said he and his wife can plant 1,000 bulbs in an hour using this technique.

Daffodils use their leaves to store energy for the next year's flowers, and they should not be cut or mowed until they have turned from green to yellow. This change in color indicates that the bulb is being built below ground. Daffodils also require moisture and will thrive and multiply with a thick layer of mulch. Debros said moisture is especially important during the drier months of July and August. The first-year blooms on a daffodil are generally small and will get bigger each year, he said.

While most people assume the stunning flowers should not be picked, Debros says it is actually the opposite. He encourages people to pick the daffodils, as it helps the plant produce more flowers. "The more you pick, the more they grow," Debros said. He hopes to install signage encouraging daffodil picking.

Debros has also planted snowdrops, which naturally deter moles and other mammals from destroying bulbs. He said snowdrops contain galantamine, which has been used to treat a range of medical conditions, such as Alzheimer's disease, and it is known to cause gastrointestinal distress when ingested. Debros said planting snowdrops near crocus and other plants found irresistible to hungry critters, will protect them. He said his snowdrops begin blooming on Christmas Eve every year.

"The idea that we can improve on our town roads...we don't want to live in neighborhoods with a 'broken window,'" Debros said, referring to an article written by political scientist and Harvard University professor James Q. Wilson and Harvard Kennedy School fellow George Kelling, published in 1982. Wilson and Kelling wrote, "One unrepairs broken window is a signal no one cares, and so breaking more windows costs nothing."

Debros hopes his beautification of Hardwick's roadways will inspire more people to join him.

"The whole thing is just my hobby, a spectacular spring plantation for everybody to enjoy," Debros said.

Jane Debros gets a warm greeting from Socks, a cow she raised by hand.

Students help give vehicle new life

PALMER – From one department's vehicle to another, Pathfinder Regional Technical High School students were able to transform a Ford Explorer from a police vehicle to one of the newest additions to the Belchertown Fire Department's fleet.

Belchertown Fire Captain Robert VanZandt, who is also a graduate from Pathfinder, said this one of several vehicles the department has had worked on by the automotive students.

"We're using the vehicle for administrative uses, training, and some emergency response," said VanZandt.

Rather than purchasing a new vehicle, the department purchased the vehicle for its trade-in value from the police department.

Students repaired rust, installed rear seats, painted the vehicle and other repairs to the 2014 Ford Explorer.

Pathfinder automotive teacher Craig Sankey said the students get the opportunity to give back to their communities.

"Our towns are responsible for our budgets, and we want to give back to them. It's important for students to get this hands on learning experience, too," he said. "This year with COIVD, it's make the timing (of the project) tough, but we persevered. It's been good to be in the shop for the year... This is one of the bigger projects."

He said while the program can't guarantee a project will be done immediately, they can make sure it's done well.

"We make sure there is a quality product that is going to reflect the professionalism and industry standard," Sankey said. "They're proud of what they do and we strive to be that way. Anyone can teach shortcuts, but we teach the way that quality work should be done."

He estimated the project took about 50 to 60 hours to complete by a group of about eight students.

Pathfinder students Colby Kokosa and Colton Hudon were among the students who worked on the project, which they deemed "stressful."

"One of the things that was stressful was having the time to get this done," said Hudon. "My sophomore year we worked on a Belchertown police vehicle, so this wasn't my first time working on a project like this."

His classmate echoed his point.

"I'm from Belchertown, so I know this is something I'm going to see every day," said Kokosa. "I'm glad it was done in time."

DA Early gives funding to QRMHS for safe post-graduation celebration

Worcester County District Attorney Joseph D. Early Jr., to the left of Quaboag Regional Middle High School Principal Stephen Duff, who is at far right in the middle row. QRMHS students stand with him.

WARREN – Worcester County District Attorney Joseph D. Early Jr. awarded Quaboag Regional High School with a grant to support fun and safe post-graduation activities for students.

This year, Early's office awarded 16 different schools across Worcester County nearly $20,000 in grants to support programming that helps keep students from drinking and driving after celebratory events like prom and graduation.

"Students have been dealing with a lot in the last year with the COVID-19 pandemic causing them to miss out on time in school, playing sports and enjoying social activities with friends and family," Early said. "I am particularly proud this year to be able to help provide these kids with the fun celebrations they deserve to end the school year safely."

Early and his Community

Outreach Team also offer presentations for teens to promote safety, including on the topics of the dangers of mixing drugs and alcohol, social host liability awareness for parents and distracted driving.

"The hardest part of our job is talking to people in pain. Life can change in the blink of an eye. These programs that our community partners have created help to keep kids safe from unnecessary tragedies caused by combining these celebrations with drinking and driving," Mr. Early said.

The funding for these grants Early is providing to high schools across the county is made possible through the Massachusetts Office for Victim Assistance Drunk Driving Trust Fund, which is a state grant that provides support services and advocacy to victims, witnesses and their family members of drunk and drugged driving crashes.

What is the best time to claim Social Security?

By Russell Gloor
Guest columnist

SOCIAL SECURITY MATTERS

Dear Rusty: I will be 64 in May of this year, and I'd like to know the best time to claim Social Security. Signed: Anxious to Retire

Dear Anxious: First, please understand that there is no one "best time" to claim your Social Security benefit, because when you should claim depends upon several factors, such as:

- Your current health
- Your life expectancy
- Your immediate financial need

- Whether you are married
- Whether you are still working

When you should claim also depends upon your personal benefit goals. For example, if you wish to maximize your monthly Social Security benefit amount, you can best do that by simply waiting until age 70 to claim. For each full year you delay past your full retirement age (FRA), your Social Security benefit will grow by 8%, up to age 70 when you get the maximum you're entitled to. If you are married and die first, that will also provide your widow with a higher benefit as your survivor if your wife's own benefit is less than yours. But waiting until age 70 to maximize isn't for everyone.

If you are in poor health and don't expect to enjoy at least average longevity (about 84 for a man your age now), then claiming earlier would be prudent. But claiming earlier also means a smaller benefit.

Your full retirement age (FRA) is when you get 100% of the benefit you've earned from a lifetime of working. Your FRA is 66 1/2 and if you wait longer than that you will earn Delayed Retirement Credits (DRCs) of .667% for each full month you delay. That means that if you delay until 70, your Social Security benefit will be 28% more than it would be at your FRA. But if you claim before you have reached your FRA, your benefit amount will be permanently reduced by .556% for each full month earlier than your FRA that you claim. If, for example, you claim your Social Security to start at age 64, your benefit will be cut by about 17% from what you'd get by waiting until your FRA to claim. And, if you are married, that smaller benefit is what your widow's survivor benefit would be based upon if you die first.

Anytime Social Security benefits are claimed before you have reached your full retirement age, you are subject to Social Security's "earnings test" which, if you are working, limits how much you can earn before Social Security takes back some of your benefits. For 2021, the annual earnings limit is $18,960, and if that is exceeded, they will take back benefits equal to $1 for every $2 you are over the limit. The earnings test applies until you reach your FRA, after which there is no longer a limit to how much you can earn. In your specific situation, if you were to claim for your benefits to start the accessibility," Cornell said. Privacy fencing will be installed by Precision Fence Company Inc.

The Gibbs Crossing trail access includes ample parking, making it an ideal spot to people of all ages and abilities to meet up and utilize the trail. A curb cut, crosswalk, and new signage will also be added. "This is an easy spot to go with family and friends exploring and out into nature," Cornell said. Cornell said these improvements could be especially significant for Ware's growing senior population. "These improvements at Gibbs Crossing will really be beneficial to the community. A trail like this can be universal for all ages and abilities," she said.

Helping to make this project possible was a generous grant from the Edward and Barbara Urban Foundation. The Urbans founded American Athletic Shoe Co. Inc. in 1959 on South Street in Ware, well-known to this day for their ice skates. The foundation was created to promote the quality of life for the residents of the Ware community. Urban's nephew, Paul Opalinski, and his wife, Tracy, now oversee the business and the foundation. Paul Opalinski can often be seen mowing and maintaining the Rail Trail, making sure it will be enjoyed by all.

Buffone captures first win of season

WINCHESTER, N.H. — Ricky Whipple romped to victory in the 57-lap John Zellman Memorial Pure Stock feature Saturday, May 8, at Monadnock Speedway, however in post-race inspection, Davis was awarded the win.

Cam Curtis flexed his muscles to top the Late Model Sportsman main, with Chris Buffone taking no prisoners en route to the Street Stock victory.

Mini Stock ace Gordon Farnum earned his first victory lap of the season Saturday, while Six Shooter powerhouse Dustin Thibodeau's first career outing on the high banks netted him the win, and Jake Bosse was victorious for the second week in a row in the Young Guns.

Pure Stock powerhouses Chris Davis and Kodi Sabins led the 21-car field to begin the 57-lapper, which would sail by in breakneck fashion, as all 57-circuits around the high banks were run without cautions. Davis was the man on the point for the first 23 go-rounds.

But while Davis was fast, Ricky Whipple was on a rail. Dropping Davis to second on lap 24, he then sped away and hid. Sabins, a distant second with the white flag in the air, suddenly coasted to a stop in the infield, handing the runner-up spot back to Davis, with former Modsman Joey Jarvis completing his charge from row five to finish third. (in post-race inspection the official top three were Chris Davies, Joey Jarvis and JD Stockwell).

LUDLOW—Most college students will usually chill out for the rest of the day after taking a final exam.

That's not exactly what Laura Gouvin, who lives in Monson, did after taking a Spanish final at Boston College last Saturday afternoon.

After finishing the last exam of her freshman year, Gouvin drove about 80 miles west on the Mass. Pike. She arrived at historic Lusitano Stadium in Ludlow about ten minutes prior to the start of the New England Mutiny's season opening match versus the Boston Scorpions S.C., who are first-year members of the United Women's Soccer League.

The Scorpions stunned the Mutiny by scoring a pair of goals during the first ten minutes and they held onto the lead for the next 65 minutes.

Gouvin, who's a midfielder, assisted on the Mutiny's first goal of the season which was scored by Agawam native Hope Santaniello, who's a forward, during the 76th minute.

A minute later, Melina Couzis, who was a senior defender on the UConn women's soccer team this past spring, netted the equalizer for the Mutiny and the match ended in a 2-2 draw.

"Even though I only played a couple of games for the Mutiny in 2019, I really love being a member of this soccer club," said Gouvin. "This stadium is very close to my hometown and I'm really looking forward to playing a full season with the Mutiny this year."

Monson Savings Bank donates $1,000 to prom

MONSON – Monson Savings Bank is all about supporting the local communities and is frequently seen throughout the local communities showing their dedication in various ways. Most recently, Monson Savings Bank President and CEO Dan Moriarty and East Longmeadow Branch Manager Aimee Kohn, met at the East Longmeadow Branch to present high school senior Brianna Conant, with a $1,000 donation to support East Longmeadow High School's Senior Prom.

With all of the hardships that the pandemic has presented in the past year and a half, the ELHS Parent Group wanted to make sure that students did not miss out on their prom, a highlight of senior year. They also wanted it to be a stress-free experience for the Class of 2021, so the ELHS Parent Group sought donations from East Longmeadow businesses to offset the cost of prom for this year's senior class. The donations are being used to lower the price of prom tickets and other senior year expenses.

"We are pleased to support the East Longmeadow High School senior prom this year," said

Moriarty. "It has been a difficult year for everyone, I am happy to know that the seniors are being relieved of some of the financial burdens associated with prom so that they can just focus on enjoying this special night."

Since most proms were canceled in 2020 due to the pandemic, ELHS Class of 2021 is very excited and grateful to have a prom this year. The students have been busy planning their prom for the past few months. The anticipated event is scheduled for Thursday, June 3, at The Log Cabin.

"We are all so happy we are able to have our prom," said Brianna Conant, ELHS Senior. "We were not sure if it going to be possible at first but we are so grateful to Monson Savings Bank and other local businesses who helped to make this a reality for us."

Kohn said her own memories of prom were important to her and, as the manager of the new East Longmeadow branch, she is happy to support the local community.

"I had such a fun time at my prom and I am so happy to see that, even though this year has thrown so many obstacles in their way, the East Longmeadow High School Seniors can attend their prom and make memories that will stay with them forever," said Kohn. "I love supporting East Longmeadow and all of our communities so this is really exciting."

Monson nonprofit offering family travel grants

MONSON – Now that travel is making a comeback, many families are busy planning their next big adventure. Unfortunately, for those constrained by financial or other limitations, the dream may seem impossible.

"This past year has wreaked havoc on so many families," says Amanda Renna, Founder & CEO at Travelnitch. "But let's be honest, even pre-COVID, travel is a luxury that many cannot afford." Travelnitch is working to change this, according to Renna. The nonprofit organization, based in Western Massachusetts, is committed to making the travel lifestyle more accessible for those who feel it's out of reach. While Travelnitch is focused on virtual travel as a way of inspiring little explorers, Renna feels strongly that there is no substitute for the real thing.

"Travel is an opportunity for families to learn and grow together. It teaches kids adaptability and introduces them to people and places different from what they are accustomed to. Travel can be a really powerful tool for raising strong and compassionate kids," Renna said. To make travel a more attainable goal for all families Travelnitch is now offering Family Travel Grants. Income-eligible households can apply for financial assistance to cover the cost of virtual tours, cultural excursions, and family daycations. The program is currently funded through generous support from individual donors, many of whom are avid travelers themselves. "People who share our passion for travel understand its value, and they want to share that experience with the next generation," Renna hopes to raise even more money to provide weekend getaway grants as well. To learn more about Travelnitch or to apply for a Family Travel Grant, visit travelnitch.org/grants. We also ask that you consider a gift to support this and other meaningful programs that inspire kids at home and beyond. Donations can be made online at travelnitch.org/donate or by mailing a check to Travelnitch, P.O. Box 284, Monson, MA 01057.

a Mutiny uniform. The last time they suffered a regular season loss was during 2018 season. The Mutiny played their home matches at several different fields that season before moving into Lusitano Stadium at the start of the 2019 campaign.

"This stadium is the best home field in our entire league," said second-year Mutiny head coach Jeb Booth. "No other team has the same type of soccer culture that we do here. It's a little disappointing that the concession building wasn't open yet because we can't socialize with the players and their families following the match. It's all about the relationship with me."

The Mutiny finished the 2019 regular season with an 8-0-2 mark before falling to the Lancaster Inferno in the U.W.S. Eastern Conference Finals. The Mutiny players waited more than 670 days before playing another match because of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Booth wasn't very concerned after watching his team fall behind by two goals early in the match.

"I always believe that we will win every match," said Booth, who also coaches the Fitchburg State University women's soccer team. "I believe in them as a team and as players, so I don't get nervous about things very often."

The Scorpions are coached by Evan Burokas, who was a member of the Western Mass. Pioneers from 2012-2019. He also played for the Western Mass Professional team in 2015.

"None of my players had ever played a soccer match at this stadium before tonight," Burokas said.

"I told them what this stadium represents to the community and what it means to play here. It was very special for me to have my team here for the first time. We did take an early 2-0 lead, but we knew it was going to be a tough game. They just kept pressing us."

There are a couple of other connections between the Scorpions and the Mutiny.

Booth has coached several of the Scorpions ENCL regional teams for more than ten years.

Lauren Berman, who's currently a Mutiny midfielder, played for the Scorpions youth teams from U-8 to U-18. Just like Gouvin, Berman played college soccer at Boston College. She also played for a professional soccer club in Hungary for two seasons and is currently the soccer operations coordinator for the women's soccer team at Harvard University.

The Scorpions took a 1-0 lead when forward Kristi Vierra lofted a shot from the left side of the box into the upper right corner over the head of Mutiny goalkeeper Caitlin Murphy.

Then forward Meg Hughes scored a breakaway goal giving the Scorpions a 2-0 advantage seven minutes into the season opener.

Another Monson resident listed on this year's Mutiny roster is midfielder Lily Fabian, who's a first-year member of the team. Fabian, who plays college soccer at UMass-Lowell, took the Mutiny's first shot on goal that was saved by Scorpion's goalie Kayla Thompson, who was replaced at the start of the second half by Skylar Kuzmich.

The Mutiny also changed goalies during the second half.

Ela Kopek, who was starting goalie for the Ludlow girls' varsity soccer team last fall, replaced Murphy.

During the 76th minute, Santaniello, who'll be a member of the U.R.I. women's soccer team in the fall, received a pass from Gouvin and put a shot into the net.

"I saw that Laura had the ball, but I didn't really know if she was going to make a pass or take a shot," Santaniello said. "She made the pass to me and I just poked it into the net with my toe. It felt great after scoring that goal."

After stealing a pass from a defender, Couzis scored the tying Hope Santaniello, of Agawam, scored in the season opener for the Mutiny.

The other local players listed on the Mutiny gameday roster were Trystin Burger (Granby), Jocelyn Trajkovski (Ludlow), and Lydia Kinsman (Southwick).

The Mutiny will be looking to celebrate their first victory of the season when they host the Connecticut Rush at 7p.m. on Saturday night.

Curtis had the hot hand. Curtis dropped Hagar to second on lap 18 and pulled away.

Hagar finished strong, though, sailing to the runner-up finish ahead of the Bay State Curtis twins, Chase and Jaret. Cole Littlewood was fifth.

Chris Buffone, who'd struggled on opening night, put all his ills behind him Saturday. Starting up front, he led all the way in the 25-lap Street Stock feature to finish well ahead of strong and steady runner-up Nathan Wenzel.

Alstead, N.H. hot shoe Rupert Murdoch came home third, just ahead of Hillary Renaud and Tim Wenzel. Opening night winner Tommy O'Sullivan – Buffone's uncle – took the night off.

In the Mini Stocks, it was four-holer star Gordon Farnum leading all the way. Opening night winner Ray King kept Farnum in sight but had no answer for the Fitzwilliam hot shoe. Kevin Cormier came home third, just ahead of Louie Maher and division rookie Mike Douglas.

Travis Hollis led the first 21 laps of the Six Shooter main, but Claremont kingpin Dustin Thibodeau, in his first-ever Monadnock run, used the high groove to finally take control and top the division's first feature race of the season. It was Thibodeau's second victory of the weekend.

Evelyn Baird

WARE - Evelyn E. (Kunow) Baird, 87, of Ware, died on Tuesday, May 11, 2021, at home with her loving family by her side.

She leaves her five children, David Baird, Dawn Baird, and her partner, Steven Vaccaro, Scott Baird, Bonnie, and her husband, Edward Kent Jr., and Laurie, and her husband, Rich Holden; her grandchildren, Michael, Heidi, Heather, Crystal, Zachary, Tiffany, Kenzi, David Joseph, Kirsten, Jonathan, Kurtis and Chelsea, her 12 great-grandchildren as well as her two sister-in-laws, Myra Baird Herce, of Queens, New York, and Helga Kunow, of Binghamton, New York. She was predeceased by her brothers, Gilbert Kunow and Aaron Kunow. She was born in New York, daughter of the late Alfred and Agnes (Maas) Kunow.

Our mom's wish was to be remembered for who she was and have a private "celebration of life." She wanted her immediate family to reminisce on all of the wonderful times we've had together. Anyone who knew her knew that family was her world.

With our mother we always felt loved and capable of anything. She had an amazing ability to love everyone and make anyone feel special. She always fostered children and added to our family with our adopted brother, David. The adoption of David showed us that love does not need to come from biology (DNA) but from the heart. When he joined our family, it was as though he had always been part of it.

She never stopped giving and found a way to share her talents. She was well known for her wedding cakes, a skill she learned from her parents' New York bakery, and always refused to accept payments because they were "a labor of love".

Evelyn opened up the Teen Center in Ware, so the youth could have fun and safe place to congregate. She also served on the board of Valley Human Services for many years, and owned and operated Hair Plus.

She was always putting everyone else first and would make time even if there was none. She never made you feel like it was an inconvenience. She would drop everything to help an animal, a person, and especially her family. Countless times she bailed all of her children out with babysitting, making us and her grandchildren believe it was an honor and privilege. Many times, there would be all eight grandchildren sleeping over. She always made them feel special decorating T-shirts, painting rocks, playing endless board games, and making them her special blueberry pancakes. We always joked that if one of the grandchildren ran away, we would check her house first.

She would only take vacations that centered around her family. She loved going on trips and was always up for an adventure. Even at 82, she would think nothing of driving to New York for the day to visit her best friend and sister-in-law, Helga. She would travel to the city to visit her other sister-in-law, Myra, to go out to eat at their favorite Palace Diner. In a well-remembered family road trip to Florida Mom wanted to show her children that they could do anything, so Dawn took the wheel of the Winnebago with only her driver's permit.

Everyone who knew our mother also knew she had a great love of animals. She raised many Arabian horses and dogs, especially her German shepherds. As much fun as we had growing up on a big farm with all of the animals, she also instilled in us how important it is to take care of animals. One funny memory that comes to mind when thinking about her love of family and animals is one time she sent Bonnie and Laurie to a horse camp for a week. At the end of camp, our mom won the "daily camper" award. She came to visit them every day on what was supposed to be a sleep away camp.

Our mother made time for all of us even as she got older and some of the trips became less frequent. Scott can attest to the daily phone calls that would bring her so much joy and laughter. They called each other daily and even sometimes three to four times a day! She would also talk regularly to Helga. Almost daily they would watch a movie together (states apart from each other) on the phone and at commercials talk about the movie. She learned how to use Facebook, Facetime, and the portal to talk to everyone, especially her great-grandchildren. Nothing made her happier than seeing all of the great grandbabies.

As her health declined, she chose to live with Laurie and Rich so she could receive the love, incredible care and complete attention she deserved. When the time came to pass, she was surrounded by love. All of her children and her grandchildren were able to be with her at home, holding her hands as she left the physical world to be reunited with her brothers, parents, and God.

We are left now not only with her memory but with a piece of her in each of us. If any of us can be even half as good as she was, then that's a job well done!

A Celebration of Life for Evelyn will be held privately. As requested, there will be no calling hours.

Man arrested for violating APO, assaulting officers

By Paula Ouimette
Staff Writer

WARE – Officers responded to a report Sunday evening that a man was violating an abuse prevention order that had been issued earlier that day. The victim received the abuse prevention order that day and allowed him to return to the property for his belongings.

Keith Mcdonell, age 39, of 16 Howard Road, Ware, was located on the victim's property by Ware Police officers, and they attempted to place him under arrest for the violation. Ware Police Chief Shawn Crevier said Mcdonell became combative and resisted arrest. During the struggle, Mcdonell grabbed the officers' holstered guns, and even defeated a security measure on a holster.

Officers were forced to use defensive tactics such as strikes, tasers and OC spray. During the struggle, Mcdonell indicated he wanted police officers to kill him, Crevier said. Mcdonell was found to be under the influence of crack cocaine, he said. Officers from the State Police, Palmer and Hardwick provided backup. Due to a radio cord being dislodged during the struggle, a call for backup was delayed.

Mcdonell was charged with two counts of attempting to disarm a police officer, two counts of assault and battery on a police officer, an abuse prevention order violation, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct.

Mcdonell is being held at the Northampton House of Corrections awaiting a dangerousness hearing on Friday.

North Brookfield Savings Bank runs pet supply drive for Second Chance

NORTH BROOKFIELD – North Brookfield Savings Bank kicked-off spring with their first ever pet supply drive. All donations will directly support Second Chance Animal Services, a community-based, nonprofit organization dedicated to animal welfare.

This drive, which ran at all North Brookfield Savings Bank locations from April 1 through April 30 collected over 730 items, including over 200 pounds of dry pet food. In just one month bank staff were astonished at the generosity from the community members and employees alike.

Not only has North Brookfield Savings Bank recently made their annual contribution to help Second Chance defray the cost of fundraising events, but the bank also partnered with Second Chance by sponsoring this pet supply drive to benefit the organization.

"It's amazing that North Brookfield Savings Bank's fundraiser for Second Chance was so successful, we greatly appreciate the assistance" said Second Chance Development Director Lindsay Doray. "Throughout the pandemic, citizens and businesses alike have been amazingly generous. We continue to be so grateful for all of North Brookfield Savings Bank's continued support."

"North Brookfield Savings Bank is proud to continue our partnership with the Second Chance Animal Services," said North Brookfield Savings Bank President Marco Bernasconi Jr. "It is an unfortunate truth that many people struggle to afford vet care, pet food and other resources for their pets, often having to make the difficult choice between expenses, heating their homes, feeding their family, or other important needs. Every donation received, no matter what amount, will help local pets in need."

North Brookfield Savings Bank is committed to supporting their local communities by supporting communities and sharing kindness. Acts of kindness and generosity are contagious and spread far beyond the first action. Now more than ever we must support our communities to ensure our citizens and their furry friends are taken care of. North Brookfield Savings Bank is proud to be that partner not just now, but for years to come.

Second Chance Animal Services, founded in 1999, is a nonprofit animal welfare organization. Today, Second Chance has grown to operate veterinary hospitals in North Brookfield, Springfield and Worcester. They help over 40,000 pets annually through their various programs such as spay/neuter clinics, adoption services, community education and outreach, training, and pet food pantry, just to name a few. They continue to succeed in their efforts of nurturing pets that others could not.

Summer Solstice celebration is June 19

HARDWICK – The Hardwick Historical Society and the Friends of the Paige Memorial Library invite all to a celebration of the Summer Solstice on Saturday, June 19, from 5 to 8 p.m., on the Hardwick Common. Bring blankets or chairs and a picnic for your family. Listen to and perhaps dance to the music of The Otters, sponsored by a grant from the Hardwick/New Braintree Cultural Council. There will be hot dogs, root beer floats with ice cream from Rondeau's Dairy Bar and cookies for purchase. Materials will be available for craft projects.

Join them for an evening to celebrate the longest day of the year and the beginning of summer. Dress for the event in tie-dye clothes, and wear flowers in your hair. Rain date will be following Saturday, June 26.

West Springfield drive-in open

WEST SPRINGFIELD – West Springfield Drive-In, in partnership with Eastern States Exposition, will be opened April 23 on The Big E Fairgrounds. The drive-in will feature two 45' by 60' screens and be able to accommodate 300 cars each, in a safe and socially distant family experience.

The drive-in, located in the Gate 9 parking area, is authorized to show new release content, once available, as well as special live-stream concerts and other events.

The drive-in is open on weekends through the springtime and then seven days per week during the summer season through Labor Day and movies will begin at a time consistent with sunset. Closing for The Big E, scheduled Sept. 17 to Oct. 3, the drive-in will then reopen October through December for holiday themed experiences. Movies will be announced weekly and ticket sales will be available at the time of the announcement. In addition, a full concession stand will also be available for guests to not only enjoy popcorn, but popular Fair foods such as fried dough, fried Oreos, and cotton candy.

"We are pleased to bring this safe and socially distant family experience to the residents of West Springfield and the surrounding communities," said EJ Dean, President, FestEvents. "During the global pandemic, we successfully operated several drive-in theaters across the state of Massachusetts and we are grateful our partner, the Eastern States Exposition, is maximizing the use of the fairground space for the benefit of those in the community."

"Some may recall the Memorial Drive-In, just down the street. We are delighted to carry on that tradition of safe, family fun and look forward to working with EJ and the FestEvent team," said Gene Cassidy, Eastern States Exposition President and CEO.
